Well Services

Coiled Tubing & Nitrogen Services

Coiled tubing intervention is vital for well services, and Seros Energy goes beyond tools/fluid conveyance to optimise end-of-pipe performance. We offer unified coiled tubing and nitrogen services for onshore well maintenance, staffed by experienced personnel with global insight. From conventional to specialised applications, we prioritise delivering high-quality, safe, and efficient services.

Stimulation Services

Our well stimulation services, paired with a specialised chemical portfolio, enhance productivity in diverse formations. Our global experts determine the ideal treatment, optimising wellbore coverage using simulations with widely accepted software. We offer various stimulation treatments, including hydraulic fracturing, acidisation, diverters, water shutoff, and sand consolidation.

Cementing Services

We provide safe and cost-effective cementing solutions for standard, deep, or high-temperature casing jobs, including remedial cement plugs. Our specialised equipment and experienced technicians ensure the integrity of your wellbore, keeping it isolated, protected, environmentally sound, and profitable. Our cementing unit features next-gen dual-pump and automatic mixing systems with real-time data acquisition, designed for reliability in diverse environments globally.

Oilfield Services & Products Portfolio

Seros Energy offers comprehensive solutions throughout your well's lifecycle, prioritising safety, customer value, and quality service. As a leading provider in directional drilling, our experienced and certified professionals use state-of-the-art equipment and technology to efficiently execute complex jobs. We are dedicated to maintaining personal commitment, trust, and innovation in every project.
